Location: Skopje, Macedonia

What would you like to share with the world?

That creation is an urge, a need we ought to fulfill in order to express and communicate what cannot be put into words.
And art is not a competition.

What influences you and your art?

The illusion and delusion of the human experience; exploring mind and soul through the dynamics of the body.

If you could change one thing in the world, what would it be?

What humanity has done with its potential.
